

WHAT IS THE PROBABILITY OF A NEW MAJOR ART DISCOVERY?

100 percent.

There is no doubt, no doubt at all, it is basically a certainty that there will be new major art discoveries.

Paintings and other works by the most important, the most famous artists, will be discovered.

How can we be so sure? Because art is being discovered all the time, every year, every month. You don't hear about it and it does not make evening news headlines because most of the time the discoveries are modest.

If you pay attention to this kind of news however, you have probably noticed that every now and then, something quite important, by a very famous artist has just been discovered.

If you now look back over the last 50 years for example you discover that pretty much every 4 or 5 or 6 years, something major has been discovered.

So we can say with certainty that this will continue, because it is not going to stop, just because you happen to be reading this now!

You may in fact already own a painting that will be a major discovery and is worth a fortune, but you don't know it, because it has not yet been recognized and authenticated for what it is.
