

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF AN EXAMINATION?

- 1) Digital technology makes it possible to create images of paintings that don't exist. For this reason, it has become important to see the paintings physically to confirm they really exist.
- 2) An examination shows the real condition of a painting and condition has a substantial impact on value and desirability.
- 3) An examination shows how much a painting has been restored.
- 4) Examining the painting directly, physically, reveals more than photos can, the quality of the painting, its artistic merit, which is so important in determining its value.

Why do paintings by the same artist sell for 2 millions, 5 millions, 10 millions and 50 millions? Why is there such a gigantic difference? The answer is Quality and Condition.

We are available to travel anywhere in the world to examine paintings and other artworks.

We deliver a Post-Examination report after each examination.
